ers to enforce the regulations for the prevention of the spread of cholera.
As in the previous riot when a policeman was brutally kicked and stamped to death, the scene of last night's trouble was in one of the districts the village inhabited entirely by the poor and ignorant classes, who seem to bave a horror of being compeled to observe cleanliness and the ordinary sanitary regulations. When the sani-tary officers attempted to put extraor-dinary regulations in force trouble at such elections. I am not partial to any federal election law, except that that law should provide for some judicial method of inquiry.
"That the colored vote in the south is suppressed or counted out is a no-torious fact. Take, for instance, the state of Tennessee. Had I received as many votes in the five black counties about. The meb made a descent upon the police, stoning them and using clubs. The policemen were unable to quell the ricting—in fact, they could make no attempt to do so, being compeled to fight desperately to protect themselves from the fury of the rictions. While some of the mob thus engaged the pelice, others devoted themselves to a furious onslaught upon the sanitary officers. One of the latter so palpable that the district attorney had many of the election officers in-dicted before the federal courtst Memcue him as they had all they could do to defend themselves. Henry Clews' Opinion. Henry Clews, of New York, the great financier, last week gave out a review of the business situation which was published in all the daily papers on Saturday, in which he carefully reviews the financial and industrial situation and

If it be said that wages are being re-duced, it may also be said that the ma-jority of these reductions have been about 10 per cent; and, as wages have been unusually high and the majority of the necessaries of life unprecedentedly low, such a moderate reduction as this ectionist in the late campaign warned he laboring classes against, in case of Republican newspapers warn them, but those manufacturess who suppley abor and who believe that well-paid labor among skilled workmen gives more liberty and independence, and consequently makes them more useful and effective, warned them also. Bet many refused to heed the warning, but, on th contrary, listened to the sophistries and faisehoods of free traders and wilfully voted against what they regarded as the (or Lung-scrofula) in its earlier interest of their employer, with the stages - the "Discovery"

Remember we deal exclusively in the above lines.

Mr. Olews says that wages has been reduced ten per cent. That is to say the workmen who received $10 a day contributes to nobody's benefit $1 a day for the luxury of a Democratic administration. The workmen who searned $5 a day contributes or loses 50 cents a day; more than enough to buy his breefsteak and have it every day, and the man who was receiving $2 a day loses 20 cents a day in wages, more

Mr. Olews says wages have been unusually high. Under protection wages are always unusually high, but the free-traders say this is counter high. Mr. Clews, however, says that series of life were unusually low and Mr. Olews concludes from this that the reduction in wages will not work any real hardship on the laboring classes, as forgets that when a reduction of ten per line, there must be more workmen than work, that there must be hosts of idle men in danger of want; and it follows that thousands upon thousands of work The large wowd of friends men who were employed when wages and customers who thronged were unusually high are now ascrificing our salesroom on Tuesday more than the luxuries of life. They are sacrifloing employment, and that sacri If labor were, or could possibly be, se fully employed as it was when wages were unusualy high, it could endure the luxuries and pleasures without working of wagen and the full employment of labor cannot go together. There must Miss Annie McDonald in be bardship. To sum it all up, Mr. charge of Idillinery Depart. Clews is evidently of the opinion that the losses resulting from the return of the Democrats to power will fall largely upon the laboring classes. This is true, but;it is paying too much for the luxury of having a free-trade party in power.

SUMMER FANCY WORK.

On all the porches and out on the On all the porches and out on the piers one sees pretty hands engaged in light work which in some cases never sees the light after it is made to do duty as a killer of time during the warm weather. Many an utterly worthless bit is wrought out in endless stitches, which might have been put to better service if only a little thought had been exercised in the selection of the article or articles that pass muster article or articles that pass muster article or articles that pass muster under the head of fancy work. A few hints may not come amiss even at this late date. Instead of starting something more than usually elaborate that will in all probability never be finished, point the needle toward some smaller and less discouraging bit of work that can form a part of the great fund of Christmas gifts that one never, finds time to prepare during the rund preceding the popular holiday.

In the list of articles that are easy to

In the list of articles that are easy to arry about and yet are worthy the attention bestowed upon them are fine towels that can, be made more beautiful by drawn work or embroidered with monograms either in wash silks on innen thread. Even one of these would be rarely appreciated by a housekeeper who dotes on adding to her linen closet dainty etceters of all sorts. Next to towels, in the order of their actual merit, are all the pretty appointments for the table, from the wine glass and butter-plate doilies up to the largest bit of the kind—the center scarf. The smaller pieces are, however, the handiest to carry about and certainly a dozen doilies or initialed serviettes are no mean present, either

Bureau covers, or dainty little pieces of drawn work for the tops of pincushions, or to be put to the hundred and one uses a woman intuitively understands, all are sensible and delightful bits of work to occupy the hands and the time with, and will more certainly be finished as to one's satisfaction than if more pretentious efforts are made—Chicago Times. up is the Alterbury murder. The Shelbyville Union says:

The most important case on the criminal docks is that of the people against had docks is that of the people against atterbury prothers for murder. When it come up, it will likely be an old-timer from start to finish. The boys, Grant and all and Rd. Atterbury, are charged with the heinous crime of killing their father, an old and respected resident of the ounty, near Moweaqua, some two years ago. The old man, while en route home from Moweaqua, was shot and instantly killed, and the boys were arrested charged with the deed, the motive aleged being that he feared he was going to manry a neighboring widow, and thus large estate. The case not being ballable to the adoption of a compromise amendment after Ed's reason left him and he was removed to the Kankakee saylum between the remains as mourable. Grant is still in jail. The evidence against them is purely circumstantial, though strong, and it is believed Grant will have hard job to keep the prosecution from fastening the crime to his and Ed's door.

A scrap-book should not be compose f miscellaneous material, but confined to some special purpose. Let the col-lector decide rigidly whether pictures or printed texts are to be collected. In pictures the collector should confine himself to a definite subject, whether portraits, historical landscapes, or some branch of natural history. A book of famous authors may be collected from publishers' catalogues alone. In almost every city or county a volume of local scenery may be collected. The collec-tor should especially seek to save what is likely to be lost. For a book in which to paste the cuttings almost any bound volume will do, especially if its pages show a wide margin, and the print can' be readily covered by two widths of ordinary newspaper clippings. The margin may be used for notes, including dates and a far conjuncture. The following is a list of letters remaining called for at the Occatur, Ili., postoffice, October 10, 1893: margin may be used for notes, includ-ing dates and a few explanatory mem-oranda. The clippings should be kept for a week or so before they are pasted down, because a second judgment may rule them out. It is quite safe to ad-vise collectors that no cutting will do unless it bids fair to be fresh and intelligible a year after it has been honored with a place in the scrap-book. If the pages become too thick for the cover, cut out two or three leaves after each page filled with the clippings. When there is the slightest possibility when there is the sugments possibility that a scrap-book may be used for publishing purposes, or that any of its entries may be cut out for other uses,

LONDON, Oct. 11 .- Eight firms owning coal pits in the Bolton district, and others owners in various places re-Other pits were reopened to-day. The miners in these pits all go back to work at the rate of wages paid before the strike. The demand for coal is very heavy. The pits now working find it impossible to fill their orders, even vith double shifts of miners at work. The owners of the Pooley Hall col-liery, at Tamworth, agreed to open the pit yesterday if the men would accept a reduction of 5 per cent. in their wages. Nearly all of them who do not belong to the Miners' federation signified their willingness to return to work on these terms, and yesterday morning the colliery was opened.
